entire police force of 11,000 men today was ordered to remain on duty continuously until Monday morning—a measure of precaution against possible May day violence or radical demonstrations.
Bluecoats were detailed to guard the city's churches, public buildings and meeting places while others were assigned to protect private residences and prominent individuals.IRISH RELIEF BUTTON DAY POSTPONEDThe button day which was to have been held in Lowell today under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women for the benefit of the Irish Relief fund was postponed until next Saturday owing to the unfavorable weather.Several of the young women canvassers were on duty as early as six o'clock this morning and many of them persisted in their work until the middle of the forenoon despite the downpour, but with the rain continuing and no signs of a let-up, President Alice T. Lee of the league finally gave the word to call activities off until next Saturday.The committee in charge regretted having to take this action as the 600 young women who were to sell the buttons were most enthusiastic over their work. However, the button day will be conducted as originally planned one week from today.The baseball game, which was to have been played between Boland & Canney's South Ends and the Broadway club on the South common this afternoon for the benefit of the relief fund was also postponed until next Saturday.PLANNING BOARD IS RESURRECTEDThe Lowell planning board, appointed a number of years ago but very dormant for the past few years, came into being again today when Mayor Perry D. Thompson received a letter from the bureau of housing and planning of the state department of public welfare, advising him that Lowell was one of several Massachusetts cities which had violated Chapter 10, Section 70, of the General Acts, in not having a planning board. The law provides that every city or town with a population of 10,000 or more shall have such a board.As a matter of fact, Lowell has such a board, but its activities have been negligible for some time. The mayor will look into the matter, ascertain the personnel of the board and probably recommend that the work be turned over to the chamber of commerce which now has a committee of this nature.TENDERED AGREEABLE SURPRISE Mrs. Charles Farnum, a prominent member of the Ladies Burnside club, was agreeably surprised last evening when the members of the organization called at her home 11 Burnside street, and presented her a handsome gift done on the occasion of her 19th anniversary of marriage. The presentation was made by Mrs. M. McManey.
In the course of the evening a containment program was given, those participating being Miss Kittie Swift, Mrs. Harriet Ready, Mrs. M. McManey,
Mrs. Emma Trudeau, assisted by Mrs. N. Casey, Mrs. N. Zels, Mrs. J. Perry, Miss L. Miller and Miss M. Ready. In the latter part of the evening dancing was enjoyed and the party broke up after those present had extended their best wishes to their hostess.

DR. CHARLES B. SANDERS

Dr. Charles B. Sanders, of 415 West-ford street, one of Lowell's most prominent citizens and a life-long resident of this city, died suddenly at his home today at the age of 77 years, 2 months and 11 days. A veteran of the war between the states, he participated in many engagements, and spent seven months in the confederate prison at Columbia, South Carolina. At the age of 18 he enlisted with the Union forces, in the rank of a private. In less than two years he had been promoted to the grade of first lieutenant, which commission was conferred upon him prior to his 20th birthday. At the battle of the Crater he led a company of 60 men into action, from which the detachment emerged decimated, with only 18 survivors. Later during the battle, the first lieutenant was taken prisoner by the southern troops, andwas sent to South Carolina, where he was confined in a rebel prison.
The doctor was born on Charles st., this city, and passed his early boy-hood there. During the past three decades he has resided at 415 Westford street. He was a member of Loud and Whitney post, No. 135, G.A.R., and was prominent in the activities of that body. He was also a leading figure in Masonic circles, having been a member of the order for a period of more than half a century. He belonged to Pentucket lodge, A. F. and A. M., Royal Arch chapter and Almasurus council.
Dr. Sanders is survived by his wife,
Mrs. Harriet E. Sanders; two sons, Mr.
Ralph Sanders, a resident of Onida, Wisconsin; Mr. Richard B. Sanders, of Newton Centre, Mass., and also by one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Whitten of Los Angeles, California.BIG DROP IN THE LOCAL DEATH RATEOne of the lowest death rates recorded in many months was reported by the board of health today for the present week. There were but 29 deaths during that period, giving a rate of 3.22. Last year there were 32 deaths and the week before 25.There were three deaths of children under five and two under one. An infectious disease caused one death, pneumonia three deaths and tuberculosis, one.Infectious diseases reported included one case of diphtheria, one of scarlet fever, six of measles and five of tuberculosis. For the corresponding week last year there were 36 deaths, 10 of them of children under five and seven under one.NEW YORK Clearings

—Limited Supply of Gas

sufficient to last only 36 hours, employees of the Lowell Gaslight company have notified their employers of their intention of striking at midnight tonight. Practically the whole force of men at work on School street, it is announced, will be involved in the walkout. Vigorous efforts are being made, it was stated by Assistant Superintendent C. H. Pritchard today, to supply men to fill the places vacated, and to prevent the shutting off of gas for heating and illuminating purposes.According to Mr. Pritchard, the employees are working under an agreement with the company that has been in effect for several years and that contains no provision for its termination. Under this agreement, it is stated, all differences between the company and its workers should be submitted to arbitration by a board to be made up of three members; one member each to be chosen by both employer and employees, and the third picked by the two men thus chosen.Mr. Pritchard states that the company sent to its employees last Wednesday night, a proposal that wages at the plant should be reduced an average of 10 to 20 per cent. It had been expected that the company would claim, that the workers would take the proposal under consideration and, if they decided to reject it, the matter would go to arbitration as provided for in the agreement.The employees, according to Mr.
Pritchard, today served notice on the company that they intend to strike at midnight tonight.The employees, firemen, machinists, teamsters, repairmen and others intend to leave their posts. The decision to stop work was reached, it is stated, at a joint meeting at which the different crafts were represented.
The employees, firemen and machinists are the only employees covered by the agreement with the company. It is stated, but the other employees have voted to support them in their opposition to a reduction of pay.
The union men claim that the reason for this action is due to the company breaking signed agreements with the employees. The teamsters, firemen and machinists have agreements with the company and jointly they rejected the revised wage schedule, which they say, practically made their agreement worthless.The other employees upon learning of the action of the three unions agreed to support them and all are ready to quit work at midnight tonight.WEATHER MAN CALLS day by the weather man. The game between Lowell Textile and M.I.T. of Boston which was to have opened Tex-campus was called off shortly after noon.Lowell high was to journey to Manchester, N. H., to play the strong high

On Discipline IssueBOSTON, April 30.—The threatened strike on the lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., which had been tentatively set for Monday, was called off today.
The trustees and union representatives meeting with the state board of arbitration agreed to a new method of handling a matter of discipline which was the chief point in dispute.A statement issued by the state board said that the trustees and the employees' representatives would confer Tuesday and draft a new working agreement. Any questions on which they could not agree would be submitted to the board for arbitration. The arbitration hearing would begin Wednesday.The present wage and working agreement will continue in force with the understanding that any change shall be retroactive to May 2.The controversies between the public trustees and their 2500 union employees results from a recent announcement that a 20 per cent. increase in wages granted a year ago would be withdrawn next Monday. At the same time, the trustees announced, rates of fare would be reduced.The company which serves about 90 cities and towns in the eastern part of this state, with lines extending into New Hampshire and Rhode Island, had made preparations to meet a strike. Several hundred experienced motormen, conductors and powerhouse employes had been brought here during the past few days and arrangements had been made

Boston College Fund Drive Will Start Here Monday

WATCH THE HANDS GO 'ROUND

The giant drive to provide for the erection and equipment of four new buildings for Boston college will get under way Monday, when the campaign for a $2,000,000 fund will put across some of the most striking publicity features ever devised for the cause of higher education in America. The entire area of eastern Massachusetts, which has for years sent its quotas of young men to "the college on the heights," will be the field of operations, and already, even before the drive has been formally launched, contributions have begun to pile up, many of them absolutely unsolicited.

Among the cities where the workers will put forth their efforts will be Lowell, which they consider one of the most fertile sources of assistance for any cause connected with educational endeavor. A record sum towards the grand two-million total is expected by the local committee, which has received assurances of support from every class in the community, it is stated.

The erection of a tower, a miniature replica of the tower of the administration building at University Heights, is a novel advertising feature arranged by Dr. Michael A. Tighe, chairman of the 2nd, or local division. The tower arrived in Merrimack on this morning, where permission to station it on the sidewalk in front of the Sun building was gained through the courtesy of Mr. John H. Harrington and Mr. Dennis A. Murphy, commissioner of streets for the city of Lowell. The structure is fitted with a clock, whose hands will mark the progress of the campaign, which is to continue for ten days. The dial has as its highest figure, the amount sought by the drive, $2,000,000.

The drive will be formally inaugurated Monday evening at 7 o'clock, with an address by Mayor Perry D. Thompson directly in front of this tower. His honor has displayed a most active interest in the matter, it is stated by Dr. Tighe, and has addressed a letter to the public of Lowell urging their backing for the drive. Two other speakers will address those who attend the opening gun of the 10-day campaign. These will be Hon.

James E. O'Donnell, and Attorney James J. Kerwin, both members of the Lowell bar. Dr. Tighe will act as chairman of the gathering.

Purpose of Drive

The money realized from the drive will be used to enlarge the scope of Boston college, and to provide for the ever increasing demand for a college education. Last year B. C. was under the necessity of refusing admittance to 50 young men because of lack of facilities to accommodate them. The present enrollment of the college is 700, which taxes to capacity the facilities now possessed. Specifically the present fund is to provide for the erection of four new buildings, namely, a science building, a library, a chapel and a gymnasium. These structures will all be Gothic in architecture, and will harmonize with the two buildings already in use, the administration building, and St. Mary's hall, which latter contains living quarters and a chapel for the faculty of the institution.

Movement Endorsed

The movement has the endorsement of Calvin Coolidge, vice president of the United States, John W. Weeks, secretary of war, Channing Cox, governor of Massachusetts, and a multitude of others prominent in the affairs of state and nation. Vice President Coolidge, writing from the vice president's chamber at Washington, D. C., on March 20, 1921:

"To the Public:

"Like every other institution which ministers to education, Boston college finds that it needs not only for increasing its service but to maintain, unimpaired, the present standard, an addition to its funds which it estimates at two million dollars.

"We are just beginning to realize the importance of our higher institutions of learning, not so much for the particular subjects they may teach, as for the general standard of citizenship which they set. It is in accordance with that standard of loyalty, and patriotism, and obedience, that the general standard of all education is based. The teachings of our colleges and universities are carried into our preparatory and grade schools. It is not possible to have ideals of citizenship prevailing there, unless that is the sentiment which comes from higher education.

"This cannot be accomplished without a proportionate sacrifice. Our colleges and higher institutions of learning were established by those who were willing to make sacrifices for the maintenance of high ideals. They can only be maintained by a continuation of the same efforts. And unless they are maintained, there is no source from which there can be replenished the influence which has supported American citizenship for almost three centuries. There is no source of freedom save in the knowledge of the truth.

"As there was never a time when there was so much need for the stabilizing forces of society as at the present day, there is no greater duty to make contributions which will serve what is a useful and patriotic, if not actually a necessary, purpose. Civilization has never been maintained by the people because they thought they could profitably afford it; it has been achieved for us by those willing to pay a price beyond what they could afford to pay. It is to the spirit, which will never fail mankind, that Boston college makes its appeal.

"Yours very truly,

"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Mayor Thompson's Letter

City of Lowell, Massachusetts, Office of the Mayor, April 26, 1921.

To the People of Lowell:

There would be a feeling of laxity concerning the duties of my office as mayor of the city of Lowell if I neglected at this time to say in commendation of an educational drive now in progress.

As you well know, a campaign for funds is about to be launched by the alumni and undergraduates of Boston college, which institution has come to the forefront among eastern colleges during recent years. One cannot but help notice the most excellent results attained by this institution in the type of men sent out into the business and professional world many of whom have made enviable progress in the life of our city of Lowell.

This campaign for Boston college well merits the earnest consideration of all people, for its success will mean the placing of education in this commonwealth upon an even higher plane.

Respectfully yours,

PERRY D. THOMPSON,

Mayor of Lowell.

New Hampshire Railroad Man
Graphically Describes His Experience With Rheumatism

"I took medicines and special treatments for weeks but they only seemed to drive the soreness and pain from one place to another," says Mr. H. B. Taylor of No. 155 North Main st., Concord, N. H.

Mr. Taylor, who is a locomotive inspector in the N. & M. shops, is now practically free from rheumatism and his experience will interest all those who still suffer.

"Exposure to rain and cold while in a run-down condition brought on my trouble," continues Mr. Taylor. "The rheumatic pains started in my right arm and shoulder which were stiff and sore. The pain then appeared in my back and was most severe when I bent over. The trouble ended part way down my left leg and the muscles became so stiff and sore that for three weeks I was unable to walk. My sleep was light and unrefreshing. I could not lift my right arm above my shoulder. After sitting down for a time it was almost impossible for me to straighten up again.

"After I had tried many medicines without any relief, I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which I had used years before. This time they helped me a little after taking them for three weeks and so I continued with the treatment. The pain has entirely left my back and legs and there is very little soreness and no stiffness in my shoulder and arm. I walk as easily as ever now and I have been able to work every day. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have certainly helped me and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists. They are from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 50 cents per box. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood," containing a special chapter on rheumatism.—Adv.

DISCLOSURES AT THE PROBE SUMMARIZED

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, April 30.—Present indications are that the special committee which is investigating charges of misconduct in connection with the passage of street railway legislation in 1918 and 1919 will report that it is the belief of the committee next week, and will be able to present its report on May 9, as directed by the legislature in the order creating the committee.

A limited extension of time may be asked for, but Senator Lyman W. Griswold of Greenfield, chairman of the committee, stated yesterday that it is the belief of the committee now that the report will be put in on time.

In view of the fact that the taking of testimony has been practically completed, it may be well to summarize briefly what has been disclosed in the investigation.

It is stated that approximately 40 men who served in the legislatures of 1918 or 1919, including some who served both years, purchased during their term of service about half a million dollars worth of stock in either the Massachusetts Electric companies, which owned the old Bay State system, or in the Boston Elevated corporation, which is the beneficiary of each of these companies, was passed in 1918, and a bill affecting, but not in any considerable degree benefiting, the Boston Elevated, was passed in 1919.

A few of the men involved purchased their stock after the legislation had been passed, as they undoubtedly had a perfect right to do. By far the greater volume of transactions, however, were carried on while the legislation was pending.

Considerably more than half the stock involved was purchased by the friends or business associates of six men, these being Edwin T. McKnight, a member of the street railway committee in 1918 and president of the senate in 1919; Senator Walter E. McLana of Fall River, McKnight's most intimate political friend; former Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea, McKnight's "whip" on the floor of the senate in 1919; and former Senator Jas. W. Cavanaugh of Everett, who was McKnight's "floor leader" in the senate in 1919 and 1920, being chairman of the judiciary.

Still another large investor was the sister-in-law of former Senator James E. MacPherson of Framingham, whom McKnight made chairman of the street railway committee in 1919.

The largest single investor yet disclosed, however, was Rep. George M. Worrall of Attleboro, who testified early in the investigation that he had purchased stock costing approximately $65,000, and whose additional purchases of nearly $30,000 were disclosed yesterday by former Rep. George S. Baldwin. Worrall, in 1918, was house chairman of the street railway committee which reported both of the railway bills. Speaker Warner refused to reappoint him chairman of the committee in 1919, a fact which caused much comment at the time, but which is doubtless explained by recent revelations.

It is not believed that any further sensational disclosures are to be expected in the investigation. There may be a few more former members who made small purchases, but the "big fellows" are already known to the public, it is thought.

Water Power Development

The opinion of the justices of the supreme court relative to the water power development bill sent to the legislature this week, is a sweeping declaration of the right of the public to take away from private owners such water power privileges as are not being used for the benefit of the public. Not only is the pending bill not violative of the state constitution, but the justice state that in their opinion the supreme court of the United States would not deem it a contravention of the federal constitution.

This year's bill provides merely that the curriculum in each public school shall include instruction in "indoor and outdoor games and athletic exercises."

LAND OFFICE TO ADOPT ONE CAR

A long series of practical tests, in which cars of almost every make and description were used, brought the United States general land office face to face with facts that left room for only one decision. That decision was to standardize on Dodge Brothers Motor cars. The land office already has 31 Dodge Brothers cars in operation, having begun this standardization a number of months ago. Seventeen of the 31 are business cars and the others are special jobs used for heavier hauling. In the future, however, to quote from a letter written by Frank M. Johnson, supervisor of surveys, the tendency will be toward the purchase of the light capacity (one-half ton) business car.

The ten invaded departments of France have produced this year 500,000 tons of wheat and one-fourth the country's oat crop.

The colonels are: William Ruthven Smith, coast artillery corps; Dwight Edward Antman, field artillery; William Durward Connor, engineers; Fox Connor, field artillery; Preston Brown, infantry; Malin Craig, cavalry; Henry Davis Todd, Jr., coast artillery; Albert Jesse Rowley, field artillery; William Hartshorne Johnston, infantry; Robert Alexander, infantry.

ALBANY, N. Approximately 3000 workmen will strike in protest against a 25 per cent reduction in wages embodied in new agreements drawn by the exchange and rejected by the councils. Representatives of the exchange say they will establish open shops in the event the strike continues an indefinite period.

THREAD THAT BINDS IS IMPORTANT

Times make perfections, but perfection is no trifle, said Michelangelo, master of many arts. Consider them one of the trines that make for automobile perfection, the threads that bind together the parts of a Cadillac. Thousands of them, pulled up snugly, join its many units, making them function quietly, efficiently as one. Threads that work loose would prove a constant source of trouble, worry racket, letting your car disintegrate month by month and mile by mile. The part, for only accurate cutting makes that difference in a car. Good threads require as much fine care as any other part. For only accurate cutting makes accurate mating possible. Threads carelessly cut set up destructive strains, strip or work loose, developing unpleasant and unnecessary wear and noise, even causing breakage. The matter of good threads is considered so important a factor in the proper assembly of Cadillac cars that it is difficult to buy, in the open market, threaded parts that will pass Cadillac inspection. For this reason a long, wide building of several stories in the Cadillac plant is given over to the making of screw machine products of a quality fine enough to enter in to the assembly of Cadillacs. When next you have occasion to marvel at the quietness of a Cadillac Eight that has covered thousands of miles, remember that "infinite capacity for taking pains" which entered into its building. After all it takes a touch of genius to build so well.

CHARLES TRAVERSY

Oldest French-Speaking Resident Nearing 90th Birthday

Charles Traversy, who will be 89 years of age next November, is believed to be the oldest French-speaking resident of this city. Mr. Traversy makes his home with his son, Edmond Traversy, at 5 Dalton street. Despite his advanced age he is enjoying the best of health and is still able to take his daily walk. His mind is clear, his hearing is good and his sight is such that he is still able to read without the aid of glasses. He is an inveterate smoker and says his pipe has been his best companion and has brought cheer to him when things seemed gloomy.

Mr. Traversy was born at St. Francois du Lac, now St. Thomas de Pierreville, Que. At the age of 25 or in 1857 he came to Lowell, being among the first Canadians to come here. His trip to the states was not a very pleasant one, for in those days railroad facilities were not what they are today. In order to board a train to come to Lowell he had to travel from his home to Farnham, Que., a distance of about 120 miles, which was covered in a wagon and on foot. The aged gentleman smiles when he recalls the hardships he encountered in his first trip to this country, for he says he traveled three days on country roads before reaching the railroad station at Farnham and en route he had to depend upon the hospitality of the farmers, as hotels in those days were unknown in that part of the Dominion. On his first trip to this city Mr. Traversy remained two weeks. From Lowell Mr. Traversy went to Cambridge, where he secured employment

In the degree in which it manifests itself, the everlasting dependability of the Cadillac is a rare and uncommon quality—the greatest test and proof of value that any car can give.

Business Methods as Applied by Wall Street Reduce Star Salaries

VERA STEADMAN. SHE'S A FLAPPER IN "NOTHING LIKE IT."

DOROTHY DEVORE PLAYS CLEOPATRA IN "NOTHING LIKE IT."

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

Many stars now have their own producing companies. It sounds big, but in many respects it is an empty honor. This situation means that the producer has passed the buck to the star players. The old army game forces the star to produce a money-making picture or wear an empty feedbag. In 1920 some stars received fabulous salaries. Star stealing was common among producers. Stars' salaries became uncommonly high as a result. Then Wall Street became interested. Business methods were applied as they are applied to other lines of Big Business. Overhead expenses were cut. Star stealing stopped. Now stars are fortunate if they get $1000 a week. The one man who made more stars than any other person in the business is working ten of them in one picture.

stars," says one of the big men of the industry. "I spent several millions making a few of them. Then they galloped to some other producer. I didn't get a 'thank you.' They forget that they can be un-made as readily as they were made."

SEC. HUGHES STILL HOPEFUL

Said to See Possibility of Re-opening of Negotiations On Reparations

President and Cabinet Understood to Have Discussed Situation Today

WASHINGTON, April 29.—President Harding and his cabinet are understood to have discussed the German reparations proposals again today. Secretary Hughes, having before him the views of the principal allied powers with regard to the offer, meantime the American reply to the German communication was held up.

While the cabinet was considering the question, it became known that Great Britain and Italy had not definitely rejected the German offer as unacceptable as a basis for negotiations. It was understood, however, that the French and Belgian views as transmitted to Mr. Hughes were that the terms were unacceptable.

Chicopee Auto Driver Instantly Killed and Two Companions Seriously Injured

AMHERST, April 29.—Dennis Robidoux, of Chicopee, owner and driver of an automobile, was instantly killed when the car was overturned early today after crossing a bridge over Mill river, between this town and Holyoke. Though the exact cause of the accident is unknown, it is believed that a sharp curve in the highway together with high speed was responsible. Robidoux's body was thrown some distance. Charles Grandchamp and James B. Couture, both of Holyoke, are in a Holyoke hospital.

AUDITOR UNDER ARREST

Accused of Conspiracy to Steal $6000 From Boston Stock Brokerage Firm

BOSTON, April 29.—The arrest of John T. Byrnes, an auditor, for conspiracy to steal $6200 from Tucker, Bartholomew & Co., a stock brokerage firm, and the probable arrest of others in connection with a scheme involving losses of approximately $25,000 by local brokerage houses, was announced by the police today. The local activities were said to constitute one end of an inquiry that was being prosecuted simultaneously in New York and Philadelphia to run down those responsible for operations estimated to have resulted in aggregate profit of $25,000. The stock exchange of the three cities have been called into the inquiry for the protection of their members who were victims of the scheme, although all executions of transactions were said to have been made on the New York curb market.

R. R.'S UNNECESSARILY OVER-CAPITALIZED

CHICAGO, April 29.—Charges that many railroads were "excessively or unnecessarily over-capitalized" were made by W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist for the railroad labor unions, today, in the second day of union testimony in the railroad labor board hearing into the demands of the roads for lower wages.

Mr. Lauck cited 20 of what he termed representative railroads which he said were "excessively or unnecessarily over-capitalized" to the extent of $1,217,000,000. The witness said "the result of financial mismanagement so far as financial status and physical condition of the transportation industry prior to the war is concerned, together with the relation of the employees to the final situation which developed" might be summarized as follows:

"1.—The increase in earnings resulting from the efforts of operating and mechanical officials and railway employees in general were absorbed by unwarranted security issues and distributed as bonuses to the underwriting syndicates or to the holders of securities.

"2.—Railroad debts, as a rule, were not paid. Old obligations were refunded into new issues and fixed charges accumulated and increased.

"3.—Proper reserves for depreciation of property and equipment were not set aside from current earnings.

"4.—As the cost of materials and surplus advanced, the net income of the railroads declined.

"5.—As the result of this situation, the margin of safety of railway net income over fixed charges was so reduced that railroad securities could not be sold and railway credit was impaired.

"6.—The final outcome of the mismanagement of the railroads prior to the war came in 1917, when the entire industry collapsed because of the unusual pressure placed upon it. Operating and mechanical officials, because of the absorption of earnings arising from financial mismanagement, had been forced to defer much needed improvements on account of lack of funds or credit, and had been compelled to permit the physical deterioration of the equipment and properties of the railway companies. As a consequence, the transportation industry was unable to withstand the unusual strain which our entrance into the war imposed on it.

"7.—Although the employees were debarred from fair participation in earnings, labor costs of operation steadily declined up to 1914. Rates of pay to employees were inadequate, working standards were bad and hours on duty excessive.

After government control ended, Mr. Lauck said, the roads returned to what he termed "pre-war evils. Operating control was decentralized, the duties of unified direction were lost, capital and credit were withheld and the roads elected to maintain excessive prices and profits for railroad materials and supplies and to contract for repair work at higher prices than necessary, he said.

Samuel Hughes, the third of the three new board members recently appointed by President Harding, was present today.

Favorable Report On Immigration Bill

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The house immigration restriction bill was reported, favorably today by the senate immigration committee, after elimination of provisions to accord special privileges for entrance of minors and persons subject to religious persecution.

No change was made by the senate committee in the general plan for restricting immigration to three per cent of the total population of alien origin in the United States at the time of the 1910 census. A proposal by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, to bar all immigration for five years, was rejected, receiving only three votes.

German Envoy Refuses to Participate

PARIS, April 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. Von Oertzen, head of the German war bureau commission, refused to attend a meeting of the reparations commission today for determination of the time and methods of the German payments. Dr. Von Oertzen replying to the commission's notice to attend the meeting and present the German observations, declared he did not believe he should attend in view of the present conditions.

War Department Opposes Resolution

WASHINGTON, April 29.—The war department is strongly opposed to the adoption by the house of the Flood resolution asking why Brig. Gen. Omar Bundy was not recommended for promotion by President Harding. Secretary Weeks says in a letter to Chairman Kahn, of the military committee.

ANIMAL TAKES MEALS WITH DRILL CHUCK

BY E. E. FREE
The machinist who wishes to fasten a drill into his lathe makes use of a device called a chuck, by which device two or more jaws are pressed down against the shank of the drill or other object to be held. As one works the chuck these jaws move outward or inward along lines radiating from its center and may be adjusted thereby to fit and hold larger or smaller pieces of metal. The arrangement that holds bits in a car-enter's brace is an example familiar to every household carpenter.

This invention in mechanics is many millions of years older than machinery. Long before the slow processes of evolution had reached anything like man nature had developed in the ancient seas animals whose descendants still survive and who used the device of the drill chuck to seize and hold their food.

The modern examples are the spiny, ball-shaped sea urchins, which you can find on rock bottoms of pools left at low tide along any rocky seashore.

If you turn one of these urchins upside down you will see at the center of his underside which was next the rock, a patch of round leathery skin with a hole in the middle of it. This hole is his mouth, and at its center there are usually visible the tips of five white teeth which work toward and away from each other exactly as do the jaws of the drill chuck.

The urchin eats seaweed and if you hold a piece of seaweed against his mouth, he will, of course, under water, you will see the skin around the mouth draw back as lips do and the five teeth thus exposed begin their work as gnawers.

As they move inward and outward they crunch down on the seaweed and break off pieces of it and these pieces are thrust inward to the stomach.

A large relief map of the world, showing all known physical conditions of the globe, is being prepared by the U. S. Shipping Board.

The animals in Lowell's zoo are subjected to tortures by cruel children, from whom they are absolutely defenseless. This was the discovery made Thursday during a trip to Fort Hill park, where a pony, two deer and a tiny bear are confined. Thursday afternoon, in broad daylight, with dozens of adults looking on and apparently unmoved by the happening, several small boys directed themselves by hurling large stones at the pony, while another group composed of boys and girls shouted in unison at the animal, which galloped wildly about his enclosure. The pony was seemingly in such a condition of terror that it did not think to take shelter in the hut which has been provided for it. No city employee or police officer appeared, and a humane spectator took a hand, pursuing the young hoodlums without revealing his identity. The gamins fled with derisive cries and gestures, to all appearance determined to return and renew their torment of the unhappy animal at the earliest opportunity.

In the meantime, in a small cage placed in the center of the pony's quarters, a little bear paced unwearyingly back and forth, seeking an exit from his narrow den. Again, however, he failed to escape from whatever mischief the children chose to launch in his direction. The wiring of his cage was quite closely woven, and the bear seemed to have the choice position under the circumstances. During a period of perhaps half an hour no one in authority was upon the scene, and the inmates of the zoo were at the mercy of whoever desired amusement at their expense. At one part of the wire fence enclosing the deer's run-way, an almost obliterated sign reads as follows: "Annoying or feeding the animals strictly prohibited." John W. Kernan, Superintendent.

An Ideal Location

Lowell's zoo is possessed of a location nearly ideal. Placed on the slope of a hill, with walks above and below the spaces reserved for the animals, it can be seen as a panorama by those who care to stroll on the paths or grassy expanses. There are a number of shade trees for the protection from the sun of the inmates, and with the completion of needed landscape gardening, the city will have a pleasant place with the best of opportunities for expansion. At the present time there is an abundance of fresh verdure which is appreciated by the large number of men, women and children who daily enjoy the breathing space offered by the park. Thursday the fine weather attracted many, and the zoo was well patronized by visitors of all ages.

The absence of a curator, however, has resulted in abuses by the lawless element in the community. One of the tulip beds has been shorn of its flowers at one corner, about 12 tulips having been plucked from their stalks. Despite the ample grassed plots available for children to romp on, a certain class entertained themselves Thursday afternoon by bursting through rows of bushes and trampling planted areas. The cruelties to the animals have already attracted the attention of residents, who have complained to the Lowell Humane society. A few days ago a dog was thrown into the enclosure where the bear and pony are kept, and telephone calls came in to the humane society headquarters demanding action of some kind in remedying conditions of this nature. It was stated that bear and dog assailed each other.

PORTUGUESE SHIP STILL ON ROCKS

Transfer of Passengers Continued in a Drizzle—300 Taken Off Last Night

Small Flotilla of Succoring Vessels Rush to Assist Stranded Steamer

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., April 30.—Transfer of passengers from the Portuguese packet steamer Mormugao was continued in a drizzle today while the vessel was held fast on the rocks on which she ran yesterday with 115 passengers. Three hundred of those aboard, including all of the women and children, had been taken off and landed during the night at New Bedford. Coast guards and naval vessels resumed the work at daybreak after a quick run back ferrying the Mormugao's passengers in a longboat over the half mile of water between the stranded steamer and the rescuing vessels at the rate of one boat-load of 20 persons each half hour.

Whether the Mormugao, a former German steamer that was seized by the Portuguese government during the war, should be able to resume her voyage from Lisbon to New Bedford and New York appeared doubtful after close inspection of her position and the damage sustained. It was found that she had run up on a shelf of rock and slabs, with one rock resting under her bow. This bow had torn open a hole through which the steamer's forehold had become flooded. Indications were that the damage was virtually irreparable, and the Mormugao showed no signs of movement in the moderately active seas.

A small flotilla of succoring vessels gathered round the Mormugao over night to help in the transfer of passengers and to assist in the pulling efforts that were to be made to free her at high tide this afternoon. The tugboat cutter Aqueduct, off running through fog and haze from a point off Cape Cod, slipped in during the night, three tugs were there and the destroyer McCalla and mine sweeper Grebe, the two latter the boats that were engaged in rescuing passengers planned to make another quick run to New Bedford with the last of them and return to assist.

Conditions, except for the rain, continued favorable for successful transshipment of the passengers, the wind holding lightly from the east.

Crew Refuses to Leave

MONTAUK POINT, N. Y., April 30.—Members of the coast guard station at Napeague beach, who today went to the aid of the submarine O-10, grounded off Montauk Point, said she was in good condition and that the crew refused to leave her.

Captain E. E. Conklin, commandant of the station, expressed belief that the craft could be towed into deep water at high tide.

FEARED CATASTROPHE

Liquor of Highly Explosive Nature Removed

NEW YORK, April 30.—Forty commandeered motor and horse drawn trucks manned by a swarm of policemen today were employed to remove $1,000,000 worth of liquors of a highly explosive and inflammable nature from the abandoned Old Union Market police station.

Removal of these liquors from the old station house, which was built 63 years ago, followed the bureau of prevention of fire department's declaration that its storage there might at any moment cause a catastrophe of serious proportions.

Municipal liquor confiscation warehouses are filled to overflowing as a result of seizures attending enforcement of the new state liquor laws, police said.

He stated that the machine had been standing near the canal bridge. A few days ago the car was stolen from the same location and a few hours later was recovered by the police at the corner of Ames and Lawrence streets. When word was received last night by the local authorities, to the effect that the automobile was missing, the police in all surrounding towns and cities were notified. The Billerica officers located the car, according to information received by Sergeant Palmer at police headquarters, and the sergeant requested that Chattell be sent to the station house at Lowell.

Prominent Lowell Man Died Suddenly Today at Home in Westford Street

DR. CHARLES B. SANDERS

Dr. Charles B. Sanders, of 475 Westford street, one of Lowell's most prominent citizens and a life-long resident of the city, died suddenly at his home today (at the age of 77 years, 2 months and 11 days). A veteran of the war between the states, he participated in many engagements, and spent seven months in the confederate prison at Columbia, South Carolina. At the age of 18 he enlisted with the Union forces, in the rank of a private. In less than two years he had been promoted to the grade of first lieutenant, which commission was conferred upon him prior to his 20th birthday. At the battle of the Crater he led a company of 50 men into action, from which the detachment emerged decimated, with only 13 survivors. Later during the battle, he then first lieutenant was taken prisoner by the southern troops, and was sent to South Carolina, where he was confined in a rebel prison.

BIG DROP IN THE LOCAL DEATH RATE

One of the lowest death rates recorded in many months was reported by the board of health today for the present week. There were but 29 deaths during that period, giving a rate of 2.2. Last year there were 32 deaths and the week before 25.

There were three deaths of children under five and two under one. An infectious disease caused one death, pneumonia three deaths and tuberculosis one.

Infectious diseases reported included one case of diphtheria, one of scarlet fever, six measles and five tuberculosis. For the corresponding week last year there were 36 deaths, 10 of them of children under five and seven under one.

Trolley Strike Set For Monday is Called Off

BOSTON, April 30.—The threatened strike on the lines of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., which had been tentatively set for Monday, was called off today. The trustees and union representatives meeting with the state board of arbitration agreed to a new method of handling a matter of discipline which was the chief point in dispute.

A statement issued by the state board said that the trustees and the employees' representatives would confer Tuesday and draft a new working agreement. Any questions on which they could not agree would be submitted to the board for arbitration. The arbitration hearing would begin Wednesday.

The present wage and working agreement will continue in force with the understanding that any change shall be retroactive to May 2.

The controversies between the public trustees and their 2500 union employees results from a recent announcement that a 20 per cent. increase in wages granted a year ago would be withdrawn next Monday. At the same time, the trustees announced, rates of fare would be reduced.

The company which serves about 90 cities and towns in the eastern part of this state, with lines extending into New Hampshire and Rhode Island, had made preparations to meet a strike. Several hundred experienced motormen, conductors and powerhouse employees had been brought here during the past few days and arrangements had been made to house and feed them at headquarters in the various districts.

IRISH RELIEF BUTTON DAY POSTPONED

The button day which was to have been held in Lowell today under the auspices of the League of Catholic Women for the benefit of the Irish Relief fund was postponed until next Saturday owing to the unfavorable weather.

Several of the young women canvassers were on duty as early as six o'clock this morning and many of them persisted in their work until the middle of the forenoon despite the downpour, but with the rain continuing and no sign of a let-up, President Alice T. Lee of the league finally gave the word to call activities off until next Saturday.

The committee in charge regretted having to take this action as the 600 young women who were to sell the buttons were most enthusiastic over their work. However, the button day will be conducted as originally planned one week from today.

The baseball game, which was to have been played between Boland & Canney's South Ends and the Broadway club on the South common this afternoon for the benefit of the relief fund was also postponed until next Saturday.

IRISH DRIVE UNFINISHED

Committee Fixes Next Friday for Final Reports From All Sources

Organizations Reported Donations—Rev. Fr. O'Connor of Cork Coming

At Elks hall last evening was held a meeting of the general committee on the Irish relief drive. Owing to the three missions in progress in local churches, the work was somewhat retarded during the week and it was found that the ward canvassers had not completed their rounds and were not ready to make a final report. So far as the work has gone, the results have been very satisfactory.

Representatives of many organizations reported sums donated while others were collecting from their members and required more time to finish up. A communication from the New England headquarters in Boston announced that although the official limit of the drive was April 30, yet if the work was incomplete, the time might be extended. In view of the conditions, therefore, it was voted to extend the time limit till next Friday night, when all reports must be submitted so that there will be no unfinished business after that date.

Mr. James O'Sullivan, president, and Mrs. Helen Henty, secretary, announced the donations from the organizations were the following:

Knights of Columbus, still collecting	$1,000.00

The flying squadron reported the canvass of the down-town stores but as the list was incomplete it was not given out. Several of the leading stores, however, had given liberal contributions.

The reports from the ward captains were also unfinished, and instructions were issued to the ward contingents to have their final reports—the money collected and lists of names for publication—ready without fail next Friday night.

The $500 Banquet

A communication was received from National Director Capt. Lucey, announcing a big national dinner for the benefit of the fund in New York city.

Haverhill Workers Will Not Strike

HAVERHILL, April 30.—There will be no strike nor cessation of work Monday in the building trades here as a result of the failure of the masters and employees to agree on wages. Price lists expired today. The masters ask reductions of 20 to 25 per cent. The employees are firm for the present scale. A two-week extension of time to reach an agreement in the controversy has been agreed upon at a conference of masters and builders. Pending final settlement present working conditions and wages will continue.

CHELMSFORD NEWS

Many Forest Fires—Silesia Mills Busy—Road Work—

Other News

In spite of the rains and general moisture, all parts of Chelmsford have been visited by forest fires recently. It was stated by Assistant District Chief George Shepard that on some days as many as three or four minor blazes have broken out, and necessitated the calling out of apparatus. The biggest conflagration of the week started from unknown causes on Monday afternoon, at approximately 1 o'clock, and burned an area of more than 25 acres. A corps of fifty fire-fighters from Chelmsford, West Chelmsford, and Westford were required to subdue the flames, which began at the Groton road, and burned in three directions.

A meeting scheduled for on or before June 4 will take final action relative to the purchase of two new triple combination engines. It is believed that the need of this additional apparatus is so clearly indicated that the appropriation will be voted by the gathering. However, there may be some discussion as to the advisability of obtaining the new engines at the present time.

A grain shed belonging to J. B. Noel was destroyed by fire the first of the week, and much grain in various stages of growth was lost. The grain was kept in trays, to be planted at different times. Four hen-houses were also burned at the same time.

Button Day Committee

The following North Chelmsford women comprise the committee in charge of "Button day," to be held for the benefit of the Irish relief fund: Mrs. William J. Quigley, chairman; Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. James P. Dunnigan, Mrs. Michael McPhillips, Mrs. Frank McCarthy, Mrs. Thomas Murphy, Mrs. Arthur Rourke, Mrs. Walter McInerney, Mrs. James Larkin, Mrs. Ruth Conlan, and Miss Mary Garvey. Twenty-five young girls, most of them the daughters of the ladies of the committee, wearing badges of the colors of the Irish republic will visit residents in all sections of the community to dispose of the buttons and to receive contributions. The feature was organized by the League of Catholic Women, St. John's parish branch. Plans are now going forward for a concert to be held for the benefit of the fund, and the details of this entertainment will be announced later. It is stated. The relief drive has been most successful in North Chelmsford, under the leadership of Mrs. Quigley, as well as in West Chelmsford, where Mrs. John Moran has been in charge, and in Chelmsford Centre, where the leader has been Miss Mary Hill.

Men's Mission Closes

The closing exercises of the men's mission at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, will be held Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3:30 o'clock. There will be a concluding instruction, followed by benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Following the final exercises in the afternoon, the evening will mark the opening of the mission for French-speaking members of the parish. Rev. Fr. Quigley, as well as in the River, will be in charge of this mission, which will continue throughout next week, terminating Sunday, May 5. Rev. Frs. Phillips and Jerome, O. P., have conducted the mission which is to close tomorrow.

Southern Tourists

While the greater part of Chelmsford's southern tourists have returned from wintering in Florida, some local residents still remain in the peninsula state. Mr. and Mrs. William Livingston returned to their home in the Centre recently, while Mr. and Mrs.

MEETING POSTPONED

The monthly meeting of the Lowell chamber of commerce, usually held on the first Wednesday of the month, has been postponed to the second Wednesday of May. The place for holding the meeting has not been selected. A speaker from out of town is to be present to discuss "The Sales Tax."

Charles F. Parkhurst

Charles F. Parkhurst is expected within a few days. The Parkhursts visited several towns in central Florida, spending some time in Orange City, among other places. All told, well over a score of families avoided the rigors of a New England winter by southern trips.

The Lowell Road

The Lowell road is being extensively repaired by the state, and work is progressing rapidly within the town limits. A gang of workmen, together with a steam-roller, are busy rolling and leveling the highway. Surveying is going on along South street, where a new state highway is to be constructed from the White Mountains to Boston.

Silesia Mills Busy

The Silesia mills, of the United States Worsted company, are still running full time, it was stated yesterday by Mr. Marit Ingham, of the plant, who, however, declined to comment further relative to conditions there. When asked whether the employees' restaurant is still in operation, Mr. Ingham declared he was unable to reply to the question.

Other News Items

The Republican club gave a repeat performance of its minstrel show Thursday evening in the Chelmsford Centre town hall. A large crowd was present, and the affair scored a marked success.

A supper held Wednesday evening at the Chelmsford Congregational church was largely attended. The affair is an annual one, and this year was followed by an excellent musical program arranged by a committee of church members. Numbers greatly enjoyed by those present were several contralto solos by Miss Rolsvert of Lowell.

Mr. Paul Dutton, of Chelmsford, is slowly convalescing from a severe illness, at his home.

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

Lowell, Mass.—"I had anemia from the time I was sixteen years old and was very irregular. (I did any house-cleaning or washing I would faint and have to be put to bed, my husband thinking every minute was my last. After reading your text-book for women I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and have never felt better than I have the last two years. I can work, eat, sleep, and feel as strong as can be. Doctors told me I could never have children—I was too weak—but after taking Vegetable Compound I strengthened me so I gave birth to an eight-pound boy. I was well all the time, did all my work up to the last day, and had a natural birth. Everybody who knew me was surprised, and when they asked me what made me strong I told them with great pleasure, 'I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and never felt better in my life.' Demand Threatens Crisis in Austria

VIENNA, April 29.—Immediate formulation of a comprehensive plan for internal revenue reforms which will demonstrate the Austrian republic's willingness to solve its economic difficulties has been demanded by the finance commission of the League of Nations. The granting of foreign credits to the republic will be contingent upon the merits of the plan presented. Leaders of the three great Austrian parties were summoned yesterday to a secret conference and reading of the demand created consternation. It is asserted that it threatens to bring to a crisis a situation which the government has thus far skillfully avoided. It is argued that public utility rates and various forms of taxation have reached the limit, while proposals for the abolition of subsidies on breadstuffs, meats, fats, milk and sugar are bitterly opposed. It is feared that such a step would send prices so high as to threaten serious disturbances. The league's demand also involves the reduction of the top-heavy civil service list.

Disorder Reigns In Dublin

DUBLIN, April 30.—Disorder reigned in this city for several hours last night following the firing of a shot at police auxiliaries near the offices of the Freeman's Journal. Auxiliaries later raided the newspaper's plant, alleging that the shot had been fired from an upper story of the building, but today's issue of the Journal stated no arrests were made. Pedestrians declared the shot was fired from the sidewalk on Townsend street, near by. At about the same hour a shooting affair occurred on Great Brunswick street, the disorder extending as far as College Green, several hundred yards away. The streets were crowded at the time and the people rushed, shrieking and panic-stricken, to shelter.

Former Circassian Bandit Executed

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Anzavour Pasha, former Circassian bandit, who some time ago enlisted with the Constantinople government in opposition to the Turkish nationalists, has been executed, after a court martial at Angora. A secret committee of revenge is said to have been organized by the nationalists to carry out the sentences imposed upon other anti-nationalist Turks by Angora court martial. Damad Ferid Pasha, former grand vizier, is one of the men sentenced to death, and has not left his palace on the Bosphorus for the past four months.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Everett A. Harding, who introduced himself as President Harding's confidential secretary and who took a party of prominent Chicagoans to Washington in a special car for an introduction to "Cousin Warren" has been indicted by the federal grand jury on charge of impersonating a government official.

Boston College Fund Drive Will Start Here Monday

WATCH THE HANDS GO 'ROUND

The giant drive to provide for the erection and equipment of four new buildings for Boston college will get under way Monday, when the campaign for a $2,000,000 fund will put across some of the most striking publicity features ever devised for the cause of higher education in America. The entire area of eastern Massachusetts, which has for years sent its quota of young men to "the college on the heights," will be the field of operations, and already, even before the drive has been formally launched, contributions have begun to pile up, many of them absolutely unsolicited.

Among the cities where the workers will put forth their efforts will be Lowell, which they consider one of the most fertile sources of assistance for any cause connected with educational endeavor. A record sum towards the grant two-million total is expected by the local committee, which has received assurances of support from every class in the community, it is stated.

The erection of a tower, a miniature replica of the tower of the administration building at University Heights, is a novel advertising feature arranged by Dr. Michael A. Tighe, chairman of the 2nd, or local division. The tower arrived in Merrimack this morning, where permission to station it on the sidewalk in front of the Sun building was gained through the courtesy of Mr. John H. Harrington and Mr. Dennis A. Murphy, commissioner of streets for the city of Lowell. The structure is fitted with a clock, whose hands will mark the progress of the campaign, which is to continue for ten days. The dial has as its highest figure, the amount sought by the drive, $2,000,000.

The drive will be formally inaugurated Monday evening at 7 o'clock, with an address by Mayor Perry D. Thompson directly in front of this tower. His honor has displayed a most active interest in the matter, it is stated by Dr. Tighe, and has addressed a letter to the public of Lowell urging their backing for the drive. Two other speakers will address those who attend the opening gun of the 10-day campaign. These will be Hon.

James E. O'Donnell, and Attorney James J. Kerwin, both members of the Lowell bar. Dr. Tighe will act as chairman of the gathering.

Purpose of Drive

The money realized from the drive will be used to enlarge the scope of Boston college, and to provide for the ever increasing demand for a college education. Last year B. C. was under the necessity of refusing admittance to 50 young men because of lack of facilities to accommodate them. The present enrollment of the college is 700, which taxes to capacity the facilities now possessed. Specifically the present fund is to provide for the erection of four new buildings, namely, a science building, a library, a chapel and a gymnasium. These structures will all be Gothic in architecture, and will harmonize with the two buildings already in use, the administration building, and St. Mary's hall, which latter contains living quarters and a chapel for the faculty of the institution.

Movement Endorsed

The movement has the endorsement of Calvin Coolidge, vice president of the United States, Joseph W. Weeks, secretary of war, Channing Cox, governor of Massachusetts, and a multitude of others prominent in the affairs of state and nation. Vice President Coolidge, writing from the vice president's chamber at Washington, D. C., on March 20, 1921:

"To the Public:
"Like every other institution which ministers to education, Boston college finds that it needs not only for increasing its service but to maintain, unimpaired, the present standard of education to its funds which it estimates at two million dollars.

"We are just beginning to realize the importance of our higher institutions of learning, not so much for the particular subjects they may teach, as for the general standard of citizenship which they set. It is in accordance with that standard of loyalty and patriotism, and obedience, that the general attitude of all education is fixed. The teachings of our colleges and universities are carried into the primary and grade schools. It is not possible to have ideals of citizenship prevailing there unless that is the sentiment which comes from higher education.

"This cannot be accomplished without a proportionate sacrifice. Our colleges and higher institutions of learning were established by those who were willing to make sacrifices for the maintenance of high ideals. They can only be maintained by a continuation of the same efforts. And unless they are maintained, there is no source from which there can be replenished the influences which have supported American citizenship for almost three centuries. There is no source of freedom save in the knowledge of the truth.

"As there was never a time when there was much need for the stabilizing forces of society as at the present day, so there is the greater duty to make contributions which will serve to make a useful and patriotic, if not actually a loyal, citizen. Civilization has never been maintained by the people because they thought they could profitably afford it; it has been achieved for us by those willing to pay a price beyond what they could afford to pay. It is to that spirit, which will never fail mankind, that Boston college makes its appeal.

"Yours very truly,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

Mayor Thompson's Letter

City of Lowell, Massachusetts,
Office of the Mayor,
April 26, 1921.

To the People of Lowell:
There would be a feeling of iniquity concerning the duties of my office as mayor of the city of Lowell if I neglected at this time to say a word in commendation of an educational drive now in progress.

As you well know, a campaign for funds is about to be launched by the alumni and undergraduates of Boston college, which institution has come to the forefront among eastern colleges during recent years. One cannot but help notice the most excellent results obtained by this institution in the type of men sent out into the business and professional world many of whom have made enviable progress in the life of our city of Lowell.

This campaign for Boston college well merits the earnest consideration of all people, for its success will mean the placing of education in this commonwealth upon an even higher plane.

Respectfully,
PERRY D. THOMPSON,
Mayor of Lowell.

New Hampshire Railroad Man Graphically Describes His Experience With Rheumatism

"I took medicines and special treatments for weeks but they only seemed to drive the soreness and pain from one place to another," says Mr. H. R. Taylor of No. 155 North Main st., Concord, N. H.

Mr. Taylor, who is a locomotive inspector in the B. & M. shops, is now practically free from rheumatism and his experience will interest all those who still suffer.

"Exposure to rain and cold while in a run-down condition brought on my trouble," continues Mr. Taylor. "The rheumatic pains started in my right arm and shoulder which were stiff and sore. The pain then appeared in my back and was most severe when I bent over. The trouble extended part way down my left leg and the muscles became so stiff and sore that for three weeks I was unable to walk. My sleep was light and restless. I could not lift my right arm above my shoulder. After sitting down for a time it was almost impossible for me to straighten up again."

"After I had tried many medicines without any relief I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which I had used years before. This time they helped me a little after taking them for three weeks and so I continued with the treatment. The pain has entirely left my back and legs and there is very little soreness and no stiffness in my shoulder and arm. I walk as easily as ever now and I have been able to work every day. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have certainly helped me and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood," containing a special chapter on rheumatism.—Adv.

DISCLOSURES AT THE L PROBE SUMMARIZED

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, April 30.—Present indications are that the special committee which is investigating charges of misconduct in connection with the passage of street railway legislation in 1918 and 1919 will conclude the taking of testimony next week, and will be able to present its report on May 9, as directed by the legislature in the order creating the committee.

Unlimited extension of time may be asked, but Governor W. Grex, world of Greenfield, chairman of the committee, stated yesterday that it is the belief of the committee now that the report will be put in on time.

In view of the fact that the taking of testimony has been practically completed, it may be expected to summarize briefly what has been disclosed in the investigation.

It appears that approximately 40 men who served in the legislatures of 1918 or 1919, including some who served both years, purchased during their term of service about half a million dollars worth of stock in either the Massachusetts Electric companies, which owned the old Bay State system, or in the Boston Elevated. Legislation benefiting each of these companies was passed in 1918, and a bill affecting, but not in any considerable degree benefiting, the Boston Elevated, was passed in 1919.

A few of the men involved purchased their stock after the legislation had been passed, as they undoubtedly had a perfect right to do. By far the greater volume of transactions, however, were carried on while the legislation was pending.

Considerably more than half the stock involved was purchased by the friends or business associates of six men, these being Edwin T. McKnight, a member of the street railway committee in 1918 and president of the senate in 1919; Senator Walter E. McLane of Fall River, McKnight's most intimate political friend; former Senator John E. Beck of Chelsea; McKnight's "whip" on the floor of the senate in 1918; and former Senator Jas. F. Cavanaugh of Everett, who was McKnight's "titular leader" of the senate in 1919 and 1920, being chairman of the judiciary.

Still another large investor was the sister-in-law of former Senator James E. MacPherson of Framingham, whom McKnight made chairman of the street railway committee in 1919.

The largest single investor yet disclosed, however, was Rep. George M. Worrall of Attleboro, who testified early in the investigation that he had purchased stock, costing approximately $55,000, and whose additional purchases of nearly $50,000 were disclosed yesterday by former Rep. George S. Baldwin. Worrall, in 1918, was house chairman of the street railway committee which reported both of the railway bills. Speaker Warner refused to reappoint him to the committee in 1919, a fact which caused much comment at the time, but which is doubtless explained by recent revelations.

It is not believed that any further sensational disclosures are to be expected in the investigation. There may be a few more former members who made small purchases, but the "big fellows" are already known to the public, it is thought.

Water Power Development

The opinion of the justices of the supreme court relative to the water power development bill, sent to the legislature this week, is a sweeping declaration of the right of the public to take away from private owners such water power privileges as are not being used for the benefit of the public. Not only is the pending bill not violative of the state constitution, but the justices state that in their opinion the supreme court of the United States would not deem it in contravention of the federal constitution.

"Physical Training"

The "physical training" bill, source of spirited controversy in the two preceding legislatures, has been passed by both branches this year with hardly a word of opposition. True, its present form may be characterized as "demonstrated" as to verbiage, but in substance it contains practically all that its supporters have asked. It will be laid before Gov. Cox for his approval during the coming week.

This year's bill provides merely that the curriculum in each public school shall include instruction in "indoor and outdoor games and athletic exercises." HOYT.

LAND OFFICE TO ADOPT ONE CAR

A long series of practical tests, in which cars of almost every make and description were used, brought the United States general land office face to face with facts that left room for only one decision. That decision was to standardize on Dodge Brothers Motor cars. The land office already has 34 Dodge Brothers cars in operation, having begun this standardization a number of months ago. Seventeen of the 34 are business cars and the others are special jobs used for heavier hauling. In the future, however, to quote from a letter written by Frank M. Johnson, supervisor of surveys, the tendency will be toward the purchase of the light capacity (one-half ton) business car.

The ten invaded departments of France have produced this year 500,000 tons of wheat and one-fourth the country's oat crop.

The colonels are: William Ruthven Smith, coast artillery corps; Dwight Edward Aultman, field artillery; William Durward Connor, engineers; Fox Connor, field artillery; Preston Brown, infantry; Malin Craig, cavalry; Henry Davis Todd, Jr., coast artillery; Albert Jesse Rowley, field artillery; William Harlshorne Johnston, infantry; Robert Alexander, infantry.

New York Building Workers to Strike

ALBANY, N. Y., April 30.—With the expiration at midnight tonight of working agreements between the Tri-City Builders Exchange and the Building Trade Councils, building operations in Albany, Troy and Schenectady will cease. Approximately 3000 workmen will strike in protest against a 25 per cent reduction in wages embodied in new agreements drawn by the exchange and rejected by the councils. Representatives of the exchange say they will establish open shops in the event the strike continues an indefinite period.

CHARLES TRAVERSY

Oldest French-Speaking Resident Nearing 90th Birthday

Charles Traversy, who will be 89 years of age next November, is believed to be the oldest French-speaking resident of this city. Mr. Traversy makes his home with his son, Edmond Traversy, at 6 Dalton street. Despite his advanced age he is enjoying the best of health and is still able to take his daily walk. His mind is clear, his hearing is good and his sight is such that he is still able to read without the aid of glasses. He is an inveterate smoker and says his pipe has been his best companion and has brought cheer to him when things seemed gloomy.

Mr. Traversy was born at St. Francois du Lac, now St. Thomas de Pierreville, Que. At the age of 25 or in 1857 he came to Lowell, being among the first Canadians to come here. His trip to the states was not a very pleasant one, for in those days railroad facilities were not what they are today. In order to board a train to come to Lowell he had to travel from his home to Farnham, Que., a distance of about 120 miles, which was covered in a wagon and on foot. The aged gentleman smiles when he recalls the hardships he encountered in his first trip to this country, for he says he traveled three days on country roads before reaching the railroad station at Farnham and en route he had to depend upon the hospitality of the farmers, as hotels in those days were unknown in that part of the Dominion. On his first trip to this city Mr. Traversy remained two weeks. From Lowell Mr. Traversy went to Cambridge, where he secured employment

CADILLAC

Trifles make perfections, but perfection is no trifle, said Michelangelo, master of many arts. Consider them one of the trifles that make for automobile perfection, the threads that bind together the parts of a Cadillac. Thousands of them, pulled up snugly, join its many units, making them function quietly, efficiently as one. Threads that work loose would prove a constant source of trouble, worry racket, letting your car disintegrate month by month and mile by mile. The part, for only accurate cutting makes that difference in a car. Good threads require as much fine care as any other part. For only accurate cutting makes accurate mating possible. Threads carelessly cut set up destructive strains, strip or work loose, developing unpleasant and unnecessary wear and noise, even causing breakage. The matter of good threads is considered so important a factor in the proper assembly of Cadillac cars that it is difficult to buy, in the open market, threaded parts that will pass Cadillac inspection. For this reason a long, wide building of several stories in the Cadillac plant is given over to the making of screw machine products of a quality fine enough to enter in to the assembly of Cadillacs. When next you have occasion to marvel at the quietness of a Cadillac Eight that has covered thousands of miles, remember that "infinite capacity for taking pains" which entered into its building. After all it takes a touch of genius to build so well.

If you are thinking of buying a car and are still wondering as to what one you will buy, just get in touch with Alger Johnson, the Peerless car agent, and he will satisfy you that the Peerless is the car that will come up to your expectations and keep up to them. Union Men Call on Nation's Head to Mediate in Wage Controversy

WASHINGTON, April 30.—President Harding's answer today to the request of the union seamen that he mediate in the wage controversy between ship owners and their employees was expected to determine whether the threatened tieup of American shipping by strike is to begin tomorrow. Representatives of the seamen's organizations presented their mediation appeal to the chief executive late yesterday after the conference of owners, unions and shipping board officials had failed to reach an agreement and at which the employees had flatly rejected a proposed wage cut of 15 per cent as suggested by Chairman Benson of the board.

A MOTHER'S EXPERIENCE

West Buxton (Me.)—Read of Mrs. Arthur Campbell's painful experience: I am a mother of five children. My little girl two years old was so sick with fever she lay just as if she were dead for two weeks. I started giving Dr. True's Elixir and she began to gain at once. Now I would not be without it. I feel very grateful to you.

No doubt this child had some stomach trouble due to worms. Scores of children have worms and their mothers don't know the trouble.

Common symptoms of worms: Deformed stomach, swollen upper lip, loss of appetite, nervousness, itching of the nose and rectum, dry cough, itching of the teeth, little red points in the tongue, slow fever.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful to its duties as family laxative and worm expeller since 1851.—Adv.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN

Medford Man Wounded—

Another Shot Lodged in Onlooker's Pocket

BOSTON, April 30.—A shot fired during a struggle between Patrolman Bernard Stonehouse and Louis Quitt of Medford whom he was trying to arrest on Court street in the banking district today seriously wounded Quitt. Another shot went wild and lodged in the pocket of Alice Goldman, an onlooker, without wounding him. The policeman said Quitt, whom he had sought to arrest on a charge of violating the liquor law, had struggled to escape, forcing him to fire in self-defense.

ITALY APPROVES U. S. POSITION ON YAP

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Complete agreement with the position of the United States in regard to the island of Yap as expressed by Secretary Hughes in his notes to the four principal allied powers is expressed in a note delivered yesterday to the state department by the Italian ambassador.

The note says: "Italy is fully convinced that the United States is asking for any privilege in the island of Yap is not equally granted to every other nation, including Japan. Italy is also convinced that the United States intends to protect its interest in the island of Yap with full consideration for the interest of other nations."

SEVEN BOSTON FIREMEN TRAPPED IN FLAMES

BOSTON, April 30.—Seven firemen nearly lost their lives last night when they were trapped inside the old New Haven railroad freight house on Glenwood avenue, Hyde Park, when the height of a fire which gutted the building and burned 600 tons of baled paper which had been stored there.

The firemen, all members of Engine company No. 42, under command of Captain Burns, had gained entrance into the building through an archway and were feeling their way toward the rear of the building, a blanket of choking smoke when the height of which had been suspended by weights above the archway fell with a crash.

WILL INSTALL WATER PIPE IN OAKLANDS

The water department will begin work Monday morning on the installation of a water pipe in the Oakland section of the city which has been agitating such an improvement for some time.

The work will start at the junction of Birch and Fairmount streets and pipe will be laid in Fairmount street to the point where work was stopped several years ago. The work will be continued through Birch street to Wentworth avenue and up Shepard street to Holyrood avenue. Part of the pipe will be 16-inch and the rest 12-inch. Six new hydrants will also be installed in that section.

Commissioner John F. Salmon says that 10 or 12 men will begin the job and he expects that it will take the greater part of the summer to complete.

LIGHT DOCKET IN THE POLICE COURT

A very light Saturday docket was heard this morning in the police court by Judge Enright. Alexander Dion appeared before the court on charges of violating the motor vehicle law. A police officer testified that he was driving a car on which there was no rear light. Dion pleaded guilty to the charge, saying that the tail light had fallen off the machine without his knowledge. In view of the fact that the offense seemed to have been committed unwittingly, the case was placed on file. Dion is a chauffeur residing at Medford. The offense was charged as having been committed April 20. Landon J. Jones, charged with the larceny of a fifty-cent necktie from Magistrate's cabin, who conducted a store on Prescott street, was freed.

Josephine Grondine and Arthur Perreault were each fined $50 on charges of improper conduct. The man's fine was paid by a friend, and the woman was granted an extension of two weeks. Joseph Roy, who emerged from the house of correction after four days spent there to straighten out, was fined $10 on drunkenness charges. When Roy appeared in court the first of the week, his physical condition appeared to be such that Judge Enright decided a brief confinement would be to his advantage. He was committed to the local house of correction for five days.

The court advised him to return to his home at Concord, N. Y. Six months' probation was drawn by Frank F. Fitzpatrick, who appeared for the third time on drunkenness charges.

James Merin, proprietor of a Suffolk street near beer establishment, pleaded not guilty yesterday when charged with illegal keeping of liquor. He offered no defense, however, in the police court, and a $100 fine was imposed, which the defendant appealed.

WAGE CUT ANNOUNCED

CLINTON, April 30.—The Bigelow Hartford Carpet company, employing 1400 operatives in its local plants, posted notices today at its departments that a cut of 10 per cent in wages will go into effect Monday morning.

NEARLY KILLED BY INDIGESTION

Restored To Vigorous Health By "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

South Royalton, Vermont: "About three years ago I began to suffer from indigestion. Food soured in my stomach, causing me to belch; and I had terrible heart burn, with pains in my chest and arms. My heart became affected; I had shortness of breath; the action of my kidneys was irregular, the secretions scanty and scalding.

I was knocked out, and good for nothing, when I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' and sent for a box. I used a few and thought, 'well, they will turn out like all the other remedies I have tried' but to my surprise and gladness, I noticed improvement and I continued the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' (or Fruit Liver Tablets) with the result that a dozen boxes made me feel like a different person."

LONESOME DOUGHBOYS ON THE RHINE

Do you know that there are still American doughboys remaining in Europe, lonely, dreaming of home? Do you know that some of these chaps find no delight in the castles and terraces of the Rhine? Here's a letter from four such lads, weary of sight seeing in the land of Goethe, Schiller and Heine. They write to the editor of the Lowell Sun and proclaim themselves as "just four lonesome and bored boys, who would like to correspond with some young ladies in that vicinity of the country. If you would be so kind as to publish our names as lonesome, and ask some nice girls please to write to us, we would thank you very much." They sign themselves as "Four lonesome, oh, so lonesome, soldier boys."

WOMAN SLAIN BY BANDITS

Mrs. Classese Stabbed to Death When Yeggs Jump On Running Board of Auto

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., April 30. Mrs. Celeste Classese, described as a faith healer, was murdered today by bandits who leaped on the running board of an automobile in which she was returning from a visit to a patient. One of four masked men stabbed her to death.

The car was driven by Michael Seltio. As they boarded the car, three of the men seized him and bound him into the steering wheel. The other man attacked Mrs. Classese. It is thought that she may have been mistaken for another woman as her assailant asked, "Did you pay attention to the letters?"

The police theorize that Mrs. Classese was mistaken for Mrs. Joseph Seltio, mother of the driver of the car. The family has received several black hand threats demanding $2500.

ULTIMATUM TO GERMANY URGED

Britain Would Give Berlin Seven Days After May 1 to Meet or Reject Demands

France Favors Immediate Action if Germany Fails to Comply With Terms

LONDON, April 30.—By the Associated Press—An ultimatum to Germany giving her seven days from May 1 to comply with or refuse the allied reparations demands, was advocated today by the British representatives to the allied conference.

This proposal was opposed by the French and the Belgians on the ground that it was unnecessary as the Germans already had had sufficient time. The French held that the default of Germany in her treaty obligations called for immediate military and economic action, that the note sending reparations demands should be sent immediately.

AMERICANS URGE GERMANY TO ACCEPT

LONDON, April 30.—Information has been received by the French delegation to the meeting of the supreme allied council that unofficial American advisers at Berlin are urging members of the German cabinet to accept the allied terms as laid down in the agreement reached in Paris last January. In this agreement the allies demanded 226,000,000 gold marks in addition to the collection of a 12 per cent export tax on German goods.

PARIS, APRIL 30.—A Berlin despatch

today quotes the Vossische Zeitung as declaring that the resignation of Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons will follow the presentation of the reply from Washington to the reparations demands. The resignation will also be likely to include the minister of finance and the minister of the interior, the newspaper says. The successors to the retiring ministers, according to the newspaper, will be chosen from representatives of the present coalition in the Reichstag.

To help you safeguard your health, the Red Cross furnishes the accompanying chart.

The chart shows the five ways in which disease germs leave the sick person. Also the private and public routes by which these germs attack the well person through nose, mouth or a break in the skin.

Our city government is responsible for keeping germs out of the public routes, such as water and food supplies.

It is up to you to avoid germs carried by the private routes. Most important of all, says the Red Cross, is to keep the hands clean.

Business Methods as Applied by Wall Street Reduce Star Salaries

DOROTHY DEVORE PLAYS CLEOPATRA IN "NOTHING LIKE IT."

BY JAMES W. DEAN.
Many stars now have their own producing companies. It sounds big, but in many respects it is an empty honor.
This situation means that the producer has passed the buck to the star players. The old army game forces the star to produce a money-making picture or wear an empty feebag.
In 1920 some stars received fabulous salaries. Star stealing was common among producers. Stars' salaries became uncommonly high as a result. Then Wall Street became interested. Business methods were applied as they are applied to other lines of Big Business. Overhead expenses were cut. Star stealing stopped. Now stars are fortunate if they get $1000 a week.
The one man who made more stars than any other person in the business is working ten of them in one picture.
Many stars were made over night. Divorce and scandal tumbled some of them from popularity. Age crept upon some. Old stars lose their luster. Arguments against Wall Street's orders to cut salaries were lacking. Except in the case of Jackie Coogan. He cannot be involved in divorce or scandal for years. His signature to a million-dollar contract is a safe bet. "We've grown tired of making

BAKER'S MILL END STORE
This is the advice that comes from Baker's Mill end store: "Buy newly made materials and have your suits made to order. This company is buying remnants by the case direct from the mills at half the price of a year ago. This means a saving for you. The store is at 611 Merrimack street.

Heir to Throne Flees to Angora
CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Omar Farouk, son of Prince Abdul Medjid Effendi, heir presumptive to the Turkish throne, escaped from this city on Thursday and fled to Angora. He left a letter to his father, explaining his flight from Constantinople. "I am unable," he wrote, "to witness dily, the invasion of the homeland by an imperialist enemy. I am going to fight." Omar received military training in Austria and holds a commission as a captain of cavalry. He is 23 years old, and is the only imperial Turkish prince with the nationalists. It is expected the Angora government may renew its threat to supplant the sultan but in certain circles belief is expressed that Omar's flight may placate the nationalists, who have been demanding the presence of the sultan and their heir to the throne in Angora.

France Sends Protest to Greece
ATHENS, April 30.—France has protested to the Greek government against the action of the Greek navy in stopping and searching vessels in the Black sea and the Dardanelles area. She has declared that such procedure is an act of war with a neutral zone, which is under allied jurisdiction.

"Partners" in Blazing New Trails— Building Islands in Atlantic Ocean

MR. AND MRS. CARL G. FISHER

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29.—When autos whizz around the speedway here Decoration day while thousands cheer, the man who was laughed at when he conceived the idea of auto races will be building islands in the Atlantic.

The man is Carl G. Fisher. He had other ideas at which people laughed before the speedway idea. That is, almost everybody except his wife laughed. She saw virtue in all of his ideas.

There was the one about the acetylene gas tank. Fisher reasoned when the auto was invented that some day it would travel at a great rate of speed and that if it were used at night it would need a lighting system.

An acetylene gas tank, long used on autos the world over, resulted. It made Fisher a millionaire.

Before that Fisher had carried papers, worked in a bicycle store, rode in tandem races and toured the country with Barney Oldfield. He entered a balloon race in 1910, being up in the air 49 hours and 25 minutes.

Fisher at present is completing Alton Beach, a resort 60 miles south of Palm Beach. Fisher saw the possibilities of the Florida keys for such a resort six years ago. He hired hundreds of workers, put dredges and engineers to work and constructed a bridge to Miami on the mainland.

Landscape artists arranged thousands of palm trees brought from South America. Many miles of boulevards were built. The new Flamingo hotel cost two million dollars. Polo fields, tennis courts, golf courses, indoor and a zoological garden have been constructed.

It is said that more money has been expended on Fisher's resort than any other pleasure resort in the world. Only a few years ago the island was a jungle.

Wife Perfect Partner

Fisher built an island to be used as a dock for ocean-going steamers. The Bay of Biscayne is being channelled.

Fisher is using the sand and muck dredged from the bay to build another island to be used by a millionaire who wants complete privacy.

In all these projects Mrs. Fisher has been her husband's inspiration. Others laughed at some of his early ideas. But their friends call her "the

GREAT FRIDAY OBSERVED

Long Procession Moves Through Darkened Streets of Greek Community

Tomorrow is Easter according to the usage of the Orthodox Greek church. In Lowell and wherever else throughout the world communications of the church meet, the salutation will be "Christos anastes," or "Christ is risen," and the response will be "Alithos anastes," or "Surely He is risen." The day will be one of feasting with roasted lamb, colored eggs and bread. Special masses will be celebrated during the day in Holy Trinity church in this city.

Yesterday was observed as Great Friday in Lowell's Greek community. During the afternoon and evening large numbers of women and children visited Holy Trinity church where Rev. Nestor Souleides and Rev. Nicholas Menides chanted the ancient liturgy of the church setting forth the story of the crucifixion of Christ and his entombment.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon plates filled with sugar and wheat were brought into the church where they were taken by elderly women who received the blessing of Father Menides. The contents of the plates were distributed among the children, who, as they tasted the food, repeated prayers for the dead.

In the evening came the most important ceremonial of the day. Children in large numbers pressed forward to kiss the face of a symbolic Christ. About 9 o'clock the lights in the district were dimmed and the symbolic body of the Saviour, the "Soma tou Christou," was carried on the shoulders of men through the streets.

Leading the procession was the Portuguese band. Following the symbolic Christ were the clergymen of the parish and attendants. Next came Christos Ziozgos and Demetrios Athanasoulas, directors of the Greek community. Nicholas Pambleres and Vasilios Lailas, leaders of the antiphonal choirs, and George Dristoulas, caretaker of the church, were in the procession. Following came thousands of men and women carrying lighted tapers.

As the procession moved through the streets it passed many houses and stores in the windows of which were hundreds of lighted candles and lamps. In the window of Getzias Brothers were large pieces of hard-crusted bread with candles set in them.

The procession passed from the church through Lewis street, Broadway, Worthen street, Market street, Cabot street and Adams street back to the point of departure.

About 10:30 the "epitaphios" was taken again into the church and chanting by priests and antiphonal choirs followed. An old chant was sung softly by children of the parish school under the direction of Headmaster Peter Souleides.

Worshippers continued to press forward to kiss the face of "Soma tou Christou" until at the stroke of midnight women reverently gathered up the flowers that had made up part of the "epitaphios," and the lights in the big crystal chandelier, pendant from the dome of the church, were shut-off to mark the ending of a memorable day in the life of Lowell's Greek community.

Mischievous Boys Stone These Little Animals at the Fort Hill Zoo

The animals in Lowell's zoo are subjected to tortures by cruel children, from whom they are absolutely defenseless. This was the discovery made Thursday during a trip to Fort Hill park, where a pony, two deer and a tiny bear are confined. Thursday afternoon, in broad daylight, the young boys of the city were seen apparently unmoved by the happening, several small boys diverted themselves by hurling large stones at the pony, while another group composed of boys and girls shouted in unison at the animal, which galloped wildly about his enclosure. The pony was seemingly in such a condition of terror that it did not think to take shelter in the hut which has been provided for it. No city employee or police officer appeared, and a humane spectator took a hand, pursuing the young hoodlums without revealing his identity. The animals, however, were determined to return and renew their tortures at the earliest opportunity.

In the meantime, in a small cage placed in the center of the pony's quarters, a little bear paced uneasily, its back with weary seeking an exit from its narrow den. Bruin, however, was fairly safe from whatever misadventures the children chose to launch in his direction. The wire of his cage was quite closely woven, and the bear seemed to have the choice position under the circumstances. During a period of perhaps half an hour no one in authority was upon the scene, and the inmates of the zoo were at the mercy of whoever desired amusement at their expense. At one part of the wire fence enclosing the deer's run, an almost oblique sign reads as follows: "Annoying or feeding the animals strictly prohibited. John W. Kernan, Superintendent."

An Ideal Location

Lowell's zoo is possessed of a location nearly ideal. Placed on the slope of a hill, with paths above and below the spaces reserved for the animals, it can be seen as a panorama by those who care to stroll on the paths or grassy expanses. There are a number of shade trees for the protection from the sun of the inmates, and with the completion of the needed landscape gardening, the city will have a pleasure place with the best of opportunities for expansion. At the present time there is an abundance of fresh verdure which is appreciated by the large number of men, women and children who daily enjoy the breathing space offered by the park. Thursday afternoon, the city was attracted by the low weather attracted many, and the zoo was well patronized by visitors of all ages.

The absence of a curator, however, has resulted in abuses by the lawless element in the community. One of the hipp beds has been shorn of its flowers at one corner, about 12 tulips having been plucked from their stalks. Despite the ample grassed plots available for children to romp on, a certain class entertained themselves Thursday afternoon by bursting through rows of bushes and trampling planted areas. The cruelties to the animals have already attracted the attention of residents, who have complained to the Lowell Humane society. A few days ago a dog was thrown into the enclosure where the bear and pony are kept, and telephone calls came in at the humane society headquarters demanding action of some kind in remedying conditions of this nature. It was stated that bear and dog assailed each other.

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., April 30.—Transfer of passengers from the Portuguese packet steamer Mormugao was continued in a drizzle today while the vessel was held fast on the rocks on which she ran yesterday with 435 passengers. Three hundred of those aboard, including all of the women and children, had been taken off and landed during the night at New Bedford. Coast guards and naval vessels rendered the work at daybreak after a quick run back ferrying the Mormugao's passengers in a long-boat over the half mile of water between the stranded steamer and the rescuing vessels at the rate of one boat-load of 20 persons each half hour.

Whether the Mormugao, a former German steamer that was seized by the Portuguese government during the war, should be able to resume her voyage from Lisbon to New Bedford and New York, appeared doubtful after close inspection of her position at the damage sustained. It was found that she had run up on a shelf of rock and stone, with one rock resting under her bow. This boulder had torn open a hole through which the steamer's fore-hold had become flooded. Indications were that the bow was virtually impaled, and the Mormugao showed no surge or movement in the moderately active seas.

A small flotilla of succoring vessels gathered round the Mormugao overnight to help in the transfer of passengers and to assist in the pulling efforts that were to be made to free her at high tide this afternoon. The coastguard cutter Acushnet after running through fog and haze from a point off Cape Cod, slipped in during the night, three tug boats were there and the destroyer McCulla and mine sweeper Grebe, the two latter the boats that were engaged in rescuing passengers planned to make another quick run to New Bedford with the last of them and return to assist.

Conditions, except for the rain, continued favorable for successful transfer of the passengers, the wind holding lightly from the east.

$1,000,000 Worth of Seized Liquor of Highly Explosive Nature Removed

NEW YORK, April 30.—Forty commandeered motor and horse drawn trucks manned by a swarm of policemen today were employed to remove $1,000,000 worth of liquors of a highly explosive and inflammable nature from the abandoned Old Union Market police station.

Removal of these liquors from the old station house, which was built 63 years ago, followed the bureau of prevention of fire department's declaration that its storage there might at any moment cause a catastrophe of serious proportions.

Municipal liquor confiscation warehouses are filled to overflowing as a result of seizures attending enforcement of the new state liquor laws, police said.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Most successful and largely attended missions for the men of St. Michael's and St. Margaret's parishes which have been conducted during the present week by members of the Dominican order will come to a close in each church tomorrow afternoon with final services at 3 o'clock at St. Michael's and 3.30 at St. Margaret's.

Both churches have been filled to capacity during each evening of the services and there have also been large congregations at the mission masses each morning. During the past few mornings hundreds of men have received communion.

The mission at St. Michael's has been in charge of Rev. John H. Healey, O.P., who has been assisted by Rev. John Shell, O.P., and Rev. Edward J. O'Toole, O.P. O'Toole, O.P., saw service in the world war as a chaplain and has recounted many of his interesting experiences in the service.

At last evening's service, the men who are making the mission were asked to offer up their communion Sunday morning for the relief of the suffering in Ireland.

At St. Margaret's church the mission was in charge of Rev. J. R. Higgins, O.P., assisted by Rev. Arthur B. Baur, O.P., who was chaplain during the 37th division overseas during the world war and who was decorated by the French government at the conclusion of hostilities. He, too, has spoken interestingly of his experiences in the great conflict. Both he and Rev. Fr. Higgins, O.P., are speakers of exceptional power.
